Dear Mr. Pivar and Ms. Schwartz,

Thank you for your e-mail to Mrs. Gordenker, about a supposedly newly discovered Van Gogh painting. We have never seen it and it is completely unknown in the Van Gogh literature. We therefore advise you to apply officially for an authentication request, a service the Van Gogh Museum provides, if you appreciate to know what our opinion on your painting is.

However, the Van Gogh Museum is closed for the public since 15 December 2020, after new measures of the Dutch government to control the outbreak of Covid 19.

Unfortunately the restrictive measurements taken by the government to control the Covid-19 outbreak do apply to our offices, as well.

Therefore, we are unable to assess your request at this time and it is temporarily not possible to start an application. For the time being, it remains uncertain when the offices will be available for us again.

We advise you to consult the Van Gogh Museum website regularly. Here you can see when it is possible to submit an application again, please see:

<https://www.vangoghmuseum.nl/en/about/knowledge-and-research/like-to-know-whether-you-have-a-van-gogh> .

On the site you will find all the necessary information. Only applications submitted through the online procedure will be processed by us.

We apologize for the inconvenience.

Best regards,

Dear Dr. Gordenker,

I am the owner of the Auvers wheat fields painting recently discovered which was disclosed to you by the Nassau County Museum of Art where it will be presented May 8.

This was a very recent discovery that left little time to show you our conclusions. I can answer any questions that may arise. I hope for your advice.

Best,

Stuart Pivar
